Sir:

An Office Communication was mailed by the PTO on December 17, 2003, indicating that the Amendment filed on September 8, 2003, attached hereto, had amended claims that were nevertheless marked as original claims. The communication stated that the Applicant needed to clarify whether deleted words in the aforementioned amended claims had been inadvertently deleted.

A Supplemental Amendment was filed on February 27, 2004, as evidenced by the attached copy, to indicate that the claims at issue were indeed amended claims, and were not the original form. On March 12, 2004, a charge of $420.00 for a two-month extension of time appeared on the Monthly Deposit Account Statement. Attached hereto is a copy of the Deposit Account Statement dated March 2004, related to the above-referenced application.

However, no period for response was set by the Office Communication mailed on December 17, 2003, and therefore no extension of time charge should have been applied to the Deposit Account. A copy of this Office Communication, which indicates that no period for response was set by the Examiner, is attached hereto.
